

Geoscience Careers

Geologic Resources Division

National Park Service
U.S. Department of the Interior

Geoscientists have some of the best jobs in the most amazing locations throughout the world. Do you want to understand the world around you?

National parks are great places to learn about Earth's past, present and future! Follow your passion and begin exploring today!

Geoscientists work in iconic landscapes like those in Mount Rainier National Park.

Geoscientists explore extreme environments at Yosemite National Park.

Geoscientists tell Earth's story using remarkable features at Bryce Canyon National Park.

Geoscientists survey hundreds of miles of cave passages at Mammoth Cave National Park.

Geoscientists monitor the restless Earth at Yellowstone National Park.

Geoscientists search for fossils to reconstruct past ecosystems and climate change at Badlands National Park.