

Lorraine Eiler

International Sonoran Desert Alliance

“But one of the things that most of the tribal groups, not only in the United States, but all over the world, all indigenous people, what they’re finding out is that they’re losing their language. They’re losing their culture for various reasons. And so what some of them are doing are setting up programs to teach the language, to teach the culture, to teach some of the, some of the work that they do, whether it’s baskets, pottery, weaving, whatever, whatever, whatever they do in their culture, they’re, they’re teaching, they’re teaching their young people. And so it’s happening all over the world, it’s not just, it’s not just the O’odham, it’s, it’s all over the world. People are trying to recapture something that they’ve lost.”